

VOLUNTEER GROUP APPLICATION

Thank you for your interest in volunteering with Grand Canyon Trust! Signing up for one of our group trips is a unique, rewarding, educational, and fun experience. Each year we work with a variety of groups including high school and college students, Alternative Spring Break groups, adventure travel organizations, rehab and recovery groups, hunters, and AmeriCorps conservation crews. Our trips offer hands-on conservation experience on the Colorado Plateau.

Please be aware that we require all of our volunteers to become members of Grand Canyon Trust. Membership is a $50 donation for adults (good for one year), and a $15 donation for students (ages 25 and under). We hope that by becoming members, our volunteers will stay engaged in the issues we work on before, during and after their volunteer experience.

We will be accepting applications for the field season until September 30th. Applications will be processed during October and groups will be notified of their application status by mid-November. Please send your completed application to:

After volunteering with us, your group will be well-primed to join us in the movement towards a more just and sustainable future on the Colorado Plateau. Once your group returns home, we ask that you use your voices as conservation leaders in your own communities to inspire and create change. This can manifest in a great variety of ways: art show, public presentation, poetry reading, film screening...the list goes on. We discuss this post-trip project in more detail while on the trip.

At this point in time, what ideas, venues, and opportunities do you have for sharing your group's experiences after the trip?

Are you willing to work with our staff pre, during and post-trip to distribute readings and other curriculum to students?

How can we tailor the trip to best meet the needs of your group? If you have lesson plans, syllabi, or other relevant documents for your group, please send them with your application.
